2. Labels and markers
3. Contact information for local charities or shelters

STEPS

1. Gather gently used clothing from your household or community members. Ensure that all items are clean and in good condition.
2. Sort the clothing by type (e.g., shirts, pants, jackets) and size. Use labels and markers to clearly categorize each group.
3. Contact local charities (e.g. Metta Welfare Association) to coordinate a drop-off. Confirm their specific needs and any guidelines they have for donations.
4. Reflect on how your donation impacts the community and the individuals who will benefit from your contributions. Consider ways to continue supporting those in need.
